

The British left mobilized millions in opposition to the war against the Iraqi people. Have we turned our back on the war against the black community going on inside our very own cities?

Testimony from victims of Police Brutality

The U.S. and its allies are on a mission to reimpose colonial domination on the majority of humanity. The invasion of Afghanistan and Iraq, the U.S.-backed coup in Haiti and the stationing of troops throughout much of Africa, Asia and Latin America signal an imperial strategy to control resources and power at the expense of oppressed peoples.

This imperial war strategy is not just outside our borders. The same policies apply to the African communities right here in Britain. Poverty, economic sanctions and police violence stalk every black neighborhood.

Genuine peace will only come about through social justice and national liberation for African and all oppressed peoples.

Sponsored by the African People's Solidarity Committee

The African People's Solidarity Committee works under the leadership of the African People's Socialist Party. Our work is to build a solidarity movement among European and North American people to defend the democratic rights of African people. Contact us at reparations@aol.com
