

socialcentreplus

WHAT'S next? Monday 11 April 19:00 — 22:00

CALLING ALL SOUTH EAST LONDONERS WHO WANT TO FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE CUTS!

You're invited to Social Centre Plus — the occupied Job Centre on Deptford High Street — to organise collective resistance against the government's cuts.

After a short introduction, the meeting will break down into working groups in order to discuss and coordinate strategies of fighting back against the brutal cuts agenda.

Social Centre Plus was occupied by Lewisham residents last month as an anti-cuts organising space for the local community: it is due to be evicted on Tuesday 12th, the following morning.

information ● organisation ● art ● music ● education
124 Deptford High Street ○ donations welcome

socialcentreplus

WHAT'S next? Monday 11 April 19:00 — 22:00

CALLING ALL SOUTH EAST LONDONERS WHO WANT TO FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE CUTS!

You're invited to Social Centre Plus — the occupied Job Centre on Deptford High Street — to organise collective resistance against the government's cuts.

After a short introduction, the meeting will break down into working groups in order to discuss and coordinate strategies of fighting back against the brutal cuts agenda.

Social Centre Plus was occupied by Lewisham residents last month as an anti-cuts organising space for the local community: it is due to be evicted on Tuesday 12th, the following morning.

information ● organisation ● art ● music ● education
124 Deptford High Street ○ donations welcome

socialcentreplus

WHAT'S next? Monday 11 April 19:00 — 22:00

CALLING ALL SOUTH EAST LONDONERS WHO WANT TO FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE CUTS!

You're invited to Social Centre Plus — the occupied Job Centre on Deptford High Street — to organise collective resistance against the government's cuts.

After a short introduction, the meeting will break down into working groups in order to discuss and coordinate strategies of fighting back against the brutal cuts agenda.

Social Centre Plus was occupied by Lewisham residents last month as an anti-cuts organising space for the local community: it is due to be evicted on Tuesday 12th, the following morning.

information ● organisation ● art ● music ● education
124 Deptford High Street ○ donations welcome

socialcentreplus

WHAT'S next? Monday 11 April 19:00 — 22:00

CALLING ALL SOUTH EAST LONDONERS WHO WANT TO FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE CUTS!

You're invited to Social Centre Plus — the occupied Job Centre on Deptford High Street — to organise collective resistance against the government's cuts.

After a short introduction, the meeting will break down into working groups in order to discuss and coordinate strategies of fighting back against the brutal cuts agenda.

Social Centre Plus was occupied by Lewisham residents last month as an anti-cuts organising space for the local community: it is due to be evicted on Tuesday 12th, the following morning.

information ● organisation ● art ● music ● education
124 Deptford High Street ○ donations welcome

We have occupied the disused Deptford Job Centre as a response to the brutal cuts to public services being carried out at both a local and national level. We aim to clean the place up and convert it into Social Centre Plus: a new public space for members of the local community here in Deptford and the surrounding area, that we can share, contribute to, and create a truly social building and a hub of local opposition to the cuts programme.

This is a self-organised space, run by people from a variety of backgrounds and we are not in any political parties.

We have taken the space in order to also demonstrate our resistance to the cuts Mayor Steve Bullock and his Labour cronies, under the orders of the Tories in Westminster, are promising us. The Council aims to slash £88 million off of its budget within the next four years. Libraries, day care centres and early years centres will all be closed while we have to suffer from pay cuts and price rises.

However, we believe that we can and must fight back. We have seen the results of mass, popular revolt in Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and its surrounding region, as well as militant action by students against the coalition government here in the UK. We want Social Centre Plus to be a catalyst for social and political change based on the principles of direct action, solidarity and self-organisation.

That said, we want this to be a free space for the community to use and we invite everyone inside with their ideas for the building and the wider world, or even just to chat over a cuppa. We plan cafés, film nights, workshops, and a million other things on which we'd love to hear your ideas!

email: socialcentreplus@gmail.com
web: socialcentreplus.wordpress.com
twitter: @deptfordplus

We have occupied the disused Deptford Job Centre as a response to the brutal cuts to public services being carried out at both a local and national level. We aim to clean the place up and convert it into Social Centre Plus: a new public space for members of the local community here in Deptford and the surrounding area, that we can share, contribute to, and create a truly social building and a hub of local opposition to the cuts programme.

This is a self-organised space, run by people from a variety of backgrounds and we are not in any political parties.

We have taken the space in order to also demonstrate our resistance to the cuts Mayor Steve Bullock and his Labour cronies, under the orders of the Tories in Westminster, are promising us. The Council aims to slash £88 million off of its budget within the next four years. Libraries, day care centres and early years centres will all be closed while we have to suffer from pay cuts and price rises.

However, we believe that we can and must fight back. We have seen the results of mass, popular revolt in Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and its surrounding region, as well as militant action by students against the coalition government here in the UK. We want Social Centre Plus to be a catalyst for social and political change based on the principles of direct action, solidarity and self-organisation.

That said, we want this to be a free space for the community to use and we invite everyone inside with their ideas for the building and the wider world, or even just to chat over a cuppa. We plan cafés, film nights, workshops, and a million other things on which we'd love to hear your ideas!

email: socialcentreplus@gmail.com
web: socialcentreplus.wordpress.com
twitter: @deptfordplus

We have occupied the disused Deptford Job Centre as a response to the brutal cuts to public services being carried out at both a local and national level. We aim to clean the place up and convert it into Social Centre Plus: a new public space for members of the local community here in Deptford and the surrounding area, that we can share, contribute to, and create a truly social building and a hub of local opposition to the cuts programme.

This is a self-organised space, run by people from a variety of backgrounds and we are not in any political parties.

We have taken the space in order to also demonstrate our resistance to the cuts Mayor Steve Bullock and his Labour cronies, under the orders of the Tories in Westminster, are promising us. The Council aims to slash £88 million off of its budget within the next four years. Libraries, day care centres and early years centres will all be closed while we have to suffer from pay cuts and price rises.

However, we believe that we can and must fight back. We have seen the results of mass, popular revolt in Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and its surrounding region, as well as militant action by students against the coalition government here in the UK. We want Social Centre Plus to be a catalyst for social and political change based on the principles of direct action, solidarity and self-organisation.

That said, we want this to be a free space for the community to use and we invite everyone inside with their ideas for the building and the wider world, or even just to chat over a cuppa. We plan cafés, film nights, workshops, and a million other things on which we'd love to hear your ideas!

email: socialcentreplus@gmail.com
web: socialcentreplus.wordpress.com
twitter: @deptfordplus

We have occupied the disused Deptford Job Centre as a response to the brutal cuts to public services being carried out at both a local and national level. We aim to clean the place up and convert it into Social Centre Plus: a new public space for members of the local community here in Deptford and the surrounding area, that we can share, contribute to, and create a truly social building and a hub of local opposition to the cuts programme.

This is a self-organised space, run by people from a variety of backgrounds and we are not in any political parties.

We have taken the space in order to also demonstrate our resistance to the cuts Mayor Steve Bullock and his Labour cronies, under the orders of the Tories in Westminster, are promising us. The Council aims to slash £88 million off of its budget within the next four years. Libraries, day care centres and early years centres will all be closed while we have to suffer from pay cuts and price rises.

However, we believe that we can and must fight back. We have seen the results of mass, popular revolt in Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and its surrounding region, as well as militant action by students against the coalition government here in the UK. We want Social Centre Plus to be a catalyst for social and political change based on the principles of direct action, solidarity and self-organisation.

That said, we want this to be a free space for the community to use and we invite everyone inside with their ideas for the building and the wider world, or even just to chat over a cuppa. We plan cafés, film nights, workshops, and a million other things on which we'd love to hear your ideas!

email: socialcentreplus@gmail.com
web: socialcentreplus.wordpress.com
twitter: @deptfordplus

socialcentreplus

WHAT'S next? Monday 11 April 19:00 — 22:00 CALLING ALL SOUTH EAST LONDONERS WHO WANT TO FIGHT BACK AGAINST THE CUTS!

You're invited to Social Centre Plus — the occupied Job Centre on Deptford High Street — to organise collective resistance against the government's cuts.

After a short introduction, the meeting will break down into working groups in order to discuss and coordinate strategies of fighting back against the brutal cuts agenda.

Social Centre Plus was occupied by Lewisham residents last month as an anti-cuts organising space for the local community: it is due to be evicted on Tuesday 12th, the following morning.

information ● organisation ● art ● music ● education

124 Deptford High Street ○ donations welcome

We have occupied the disused Deptford Job Centre as a response to the brutal cuts to public services being carried out at both a local and national level. We aim to clean the place up and convert it into Social Centre Plus: a new public space for members of the local community here in Deptford and the surrounding area, that we can share, contribute to, and create a truly social building and a hub of local opposition to the cuts programme.

This is a self-organised space, run by people from a variety of backgrounds and we are not in any political parties.

We have taken the space in order to also demonstrate our resistance to the cuts Mayor Steve Bullock and his Labour cronies, under the orders of the Tories in Westminster, are promising us. The Council aims to slash £88 million off of its budget within the next four years. Libraries, day care centres and early years centres will all be closed while we have to suffer from pay cuts and price rises.

However, we believe that we can and must fight back. We have seen the results of mass, popular revolt in Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and its surrounding region, as well as militant action by students against the coalition government here in the UK. We want Social Centre Plus to be a catalyst for social and political change based on the principles of direct action, solidarity and self-organisation.

That said, we want this to be a free space for the community to use and we invite everyone inside with their ideas for the building and the wider world, or even just to chat over a cuppa. We plan cafés, film nights, workshops, and a million other things on which we'd love to hear your ideas!

email: socialcentreplus@gmail.com

web: socialcentreplus.wordpress.com

twitter: @deptfordplus